Disclaimer and Product Statements

Product statements are for informational purposes only and have not been evaluated by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Our products are not intended to treat, cure, or prevent any disease or condition. No results are promised or guaranteed. No liability is taken by Angel J's Creations, LLC or its employees, shareholders, or affiliates for any claims arising out of the misuse or otherwise of any of Angel J's Creations, LLC.

Although great care and research went into creating the content, much of Aromatherapy and the said benefits of essential oils/butters are alternative treatments and not meant to be used as a substitute for modern medical intervention or solutions.

Our products are NOT for consumption. Oils must be patch tested on skin to ensure no irritable effects occur. No liability will be assumed Angel J's Creations, LLC or its employees, shareholders, or affiliates for any claims arising out of the misuse or otherwise of essential oils or any other product sold or manufactured by The Hair Care Company.

Always keep all products and Angel J's Creations, LLC products out of the reach of children. If redness, burning, itching, or irritation occurs, stop using product immediately and consult your medical provider if self-treatment is not effective. If irritation does occur then apply vegetable oil, not water, to the affected area and dry. Again, to stop burning, redness, itching, or irritation do not add water; instead apply generous amounts of vegetable oil to the area.

If you are pregnant or nursing a baby, have heart disease, epilepsy, high blood pressure or diabetes, seek the advice of a health professional before using any oils or Angel J's Creations, LLC products. Please test all skin products before using them. Apply a small amount to the skin on your inner arm. Do not use if redness or irritation occurs.
